Raw Material of Polycarboxylate Superplasticizer

Raw Material of Polycarboxylate Superplasticizer is an important raw material for polycarboxylate superplasticizer which is formed by the macro-monomer copolymerize with acrylic acid. The hydrophilic group in the synthesized copolymer(PCE) can improve the hydrophily the dispersibility of the copolymer in water. The synthesized copolymer(PCE) has good dispersibility, high water reducing rate, good slump retention, good enhancing effect and durability, also is environmentally friendly and widely used in premix and cast-in concrete.

Index

Appearance:	White or light yellow flaky solid
Unsaturation mmol/e:	≥ 0.38
Moisture:	$\leq 0.2\%$

solubility , our environmentally-friendly product always keep its stabilization in the water and shows good compatibility with other components. As one of the most important materials of cement water-reducing agents, the high efficiency particle dispersion performance is not only one of its properties, it also can increase the water reducing rate and durability with just a little mixing amount. The properties including keeping rebars ' quality and enhancing the strength of cement make our product always in hot sales.

Packing: Woven bag of 25Kgs.

Storage: Raw Material of Polycarboxylate Superplasticizer shall be stored in well-ventilated and dry places without direct sunlight and rain.

Product shelf life: One year.

Our corporate culture

Customers first, profession, Efficient.

Company Vision

Provide customers with quality materials and services, become a global leader in materials chemicals.

Each year, we participate in large-scale exhibitions domestically and
